Theme Note:

We all think!
Everyone thinks!
Thinking is spontaneous to us. Among those thoughts some are biased, distorted; some are entangled with prejudices; some are conscious; some are unconscious and so on and so forth. We are weaving our life with all sorts of thoughts. The quality of our thought determines the quality of our life in several significant ways. In that sense, our thoughts shape our life. Moreover, critical thinking unfolds new avenues for our thought. Thus we need to be critical in our thought and about our thoughts. Delving deep into the nitty-gritties of this issue will take us to the philosophical perplexities regarding critical thinking. So Let Us Get Critical!
