

EDITORIAL

The journal has brought the diverse array of ideas reckoning politics and related dimensions of social sciences. Prerequisite of such a journal publication is nothing but accommodating versatility of contents with quality research orientation. It fulfills the urge of submerging plethora of ideas into a cluster for intellectual digest. Predominantly the dignitaries and the scholars focused on functional concepts in the domain for consumption. The construction of such a procedural, intellectual and diligent commission is one of the essential priorities of the department of Political Science as the essential part of its commitments towards the academic fulfillment of the University as well as the profoundly growing academia in the regional plots aiming at achieving global perspectives. Parallel essentialism of interdisciplinary studies along with disciplinary lineages has been crucially considered at the bulwark of the departmental aspirations.

With this note of ambition the entire editorial team and advisory Committee worked towards assemblage of exquisite understanding of academic publications. The team expresses its heartfelt gratitude to all the authors and the people who are directly or indirectly associated with the entire process. Allowing the furtherance of this volume the team assures and ensures constant engagement towards research oriented publications and intellectual fervours in short and long run.
