Course Title: Vedic Studies

Credit - 4, Marks – 50

Objectives:

As Veda is the oldest literature of Sanskrit, and one of the oldest literatures of world, it is an important content of this syllabus. There are selected hymns from the Ṛgveda, with the commentary of Sāyaṇa. Sāyaṇa is the celebrated Vedic commentator of 13th century. With the help of Ṛgvedabhāṣyopakramaṇīkā, one can get to know about the introduction of a commentary. Nirukta (etymological interpretation) is one of the six Vedāṅga disciplines, treating etymology, particularly of obscure words, especially those occurring in the Vedas. The discipline is traditionally attributed to Yāska, an ancient Sanskrit etymologist.

Course Learning Outcome:

This course is designed to aware the students with Vedic hymes and Etymology of words, so that they can understand the meaning of Veda.

Course Title: Grammar

Credit - 4, Marks – 50

Objectives:

This course has been designed as the background of Sanskrit grammar. It is an introductory course on Pāṇinian grammar. The course starts with a brief introduction with the discussion about grammarians of Sanskrit since ancient. The famous text of sixteen century Siddhāntakaumudī would initiate students to the world of Pāṇini.

Course Learning Outcomes:

This course enables students to know about the technical terms and meta-rules of Pāṇinian Grammar. They will be able to know about sandhi rules. This knowledge would empower them to read complex Sanskrit texts. In addition to these rules and resulting forms of Ajantapumlingaprakaraṇam would also enhance the knowledge of Sanskrit Morphology.

Course Title: Philosophy

Credit - 4, Marks – 50

Objectives: This course initiates three schools of Indian Philosophy. It starts with the introduction of Mahābhāṣya of patañjali. It not only discusses the necessity and nature of grammar, it is treated as an introductory text of all discipline. It is a masterpiece of Sanskrit prose writing. The kārikāvali-Muktāvali of Viswanatha Panchananais a popular manual of the Nyāya-VaisesikaSystem. This text is divided into five section, viz. Pratyaksha-khanda, Anumāna-khanda, Upamāna-khanda, Sabda-khanda, and Guna-khanda. Sāṃkhya is one of the six āstika schools of Indian philosophy. It is most related to the Yoga school of Indian Philosophy and it was influential on other schools of Indian philosophy.

Course Learning outcomes:

This course aims to introduce the application methods and techniques of Navya Nyāya language among the students. The objective of the course is also to enrich the concept of different views on the precise form of fruition of Mangala, Causality, and three types of causes, nine substances and perception. It also teaches students how to introduce a subject to a pupil, and how to arouse interest in it.

Course Title: Kāvya

Credit - 4, Marks – 50

Objectives:

This course has been designed as introductory course on Sanskrit kāvya. The course consists of two texts. The first one is Mṛcchakaṭikam of | ūdraka. The drama is unique in the sense of plot and the different uses of Prākṛta languages in it. It breaks away from the banal theme of royal life. It deals with the love-story of brahmin Cārudatta and the rich courtesan Vasantasena. This social drama, breathing as it does a plebeian atmosphere, is regarded one of the unique of all Sanskrit plays.

The second one is Kāvyaaprakāśa, a celebrated work on Poetics, attributed to Mammaṭa, the rhetorician from 11th century Kashmir. The text written in 10 chapters attempts to synthesise the doctrines of the different schools of Sanskrit rhetoric and finally establishes the doctrines of the Dhvanischool.

Course Learning Outcomes: This course would aware students the mastery of Sanskrit poets as well dramatists. It would also make them aware about the different forms of the literary theory such as dhvani, rasa, alamkāra etc.

Course Title: Vedic Studies

Credit - 4, Marks – 50

Objectives: This course again includes Vedic Hymns other than Ṛgveda. It includes hymns from Atharvaveda and from Yajurveda. Atharvaveda is the fourth Veda and it is unique in nature. It is known as the procedures for everyday life. Royal rituals and the duties of the court priests are included in the Atharvaveda. Along with these ayurveda, the traditional system of medicine in ancient India is also included in the very text. The Yajurveda is the Veda primarily of prose mantras for worship rituals. An ancient Vedic Sanskrit text, it is a compilation of ritual offering formulas that were said by a priest while an individual performed ritual actions such as those before the yajña fire. The Vedic culture is known as the tradition of sacrifices. The different natures of sacrifices are included here from śatapathabrāhmaṇa, which is one of the earliest examples of Sanskrit prose writings. Again, the syllabus includes another chapter Nirukta.

Course Learning Outcomes: Students would get more intrinsic idea of Vedic world through hymns, sacrifices and the world of etymology.

Course Title: Grammar

Credit - 4, Marks – 50

Objectives: After the introduction of grammar in the first semester, this course introduces core operations from Sanskrit grammar. As the verb is the central part of sentence, it is necessary to know the internal structure of verb, and how it gets ready to be used in the sentence, after the rules of affixation. It also tells about verb classes. The text Siddhāntakaumudī discusses in details about the grammatical operations with the help of Pāṇinian rules. Along with this unit I also talks about those forms of verbs which are used to express wish. There are verb forms which are used to express reduplication of actions. The second unit includes Linguistics. It starts with the definition of the language and the subject itself. It talks about the major broad divisions of Linguistics such as Phonology, Morphology, Syntax, Semantics etc along with their general rules. It talks about the relation between human language and brain. It also tells about divisions of languages.

Course Learning Outcomes: Students would get mastery over the structure of verb forms of Sanskrit and they would get glimpses of the world of Linguistics.

Course Title: Kāvya

Credit - 4, Marks – 50

Objectives: This paper consists of Śīsupālavadhaṃ of Māgha and the IXth and Xth chapters of the Kāvya prakāśa of Mammata. Śīsupālavadhaṃ is a great epic of classical Sanskrit poetry composed by Māgha, in 20 cantos. The story is based on an episode of the Mahābhārata in which Nārada directs Kṛṣṇa to slay the Chedi king Śīsupāla, a violent enemy. The poem is admired more for its exquisite descriptions and lyrical quality than for any dramatic development of plot. Mammata discusses the poetic figures and their place in poetry by justifying their relation to rasa. Almākāra are compared to ornaments on a man's body, as such they adorn words the meanings which constitute the 'body' of the poetry. They thus serve to embellish indirectly (through sound and sense) the underlying soul of the sentiment.

Course Learning Outcomes: This paper enables students to understand the exquisite description of poetry of Māgha. The paper also aims to make students engage into these new forms of poetic figures, so that they can learn how to apply these in poetry.
